Reaching Out

Planned Change to Meet the Needs of Students in the 1980's

A walk through the 275-acre Mary Washington College campus is much the same as it was five years ago; in fact, the newest building is now eight years old. The dogwoods still bloom every spring, ACL is still the focal point of most student activity, and the library stands formidably at the heart of campus. Yet, there is a metamorphosis taking place within Mary Washington College. Quiet, unobtrusive, and at the same time exciting and all encompassing.

The College and its students are reaching out to one another as never before. Students' needs of the '70s and upcoming '80s are being heard and met. The College is responding by adding new programs, emphasizing career counseling and moving decisively to offer opportunities to commuting and adult students. In its most significant step in recent years, the College applied this fall to the State Council of Higher Education in Virginia for permission to confer the master's degree. If approved by the council and the Virginia General Assembly this winter, the college will implement a graduate-level degree program by the fall of 1980.

In a discussion with the faculty this fall, College President Prince B. Woodard emphasized that "Mary Washington is going to remain a high-quality, small, residential, undergraduate college of liberal arts and sciences . . . .The graduate program will be offered in the evenings, on weekends, and during the summer months to commuting, non-dormitory students, and it is anticipated there may be 30 evening students the first year, increasing to perhaps 200 part-time students by 1985."

Several important steps have been taken already, he said. In August the College submitted an application to the council, and the council, in turn, appointed an evaluation committee to conduct an onsite evaluation of the College. That visit was made in September. A favorable action by the council at its November meeting will enable the governor and the General Assembly to act on the program this winter.

The idea for a graduate program at MWC is not a new one. In fact, a committee known as the "Committee on the Future of the College" established 10 years ago, reported in 1969 that the College should seek approval to offer a limited graduate program. Two years later, the Steering Committee of the Self-Study Report of 1971 also proposed that Mary Washington "undertake a carefully selected graduate program in areas where library resources and faculty competence guarantee the proper level of study. Such a graduate program probably should not be directed toward a residential student body, but rather toward the commuting student."

During the 1977-78 academic year the College Planning and Priorities Council, composed of administrators, faculty and students appointed by President Woodard to focus on long-range planning and priorities of the College, agreed that Mary Washington should be of broader service to the surrounding geographical area by offering graduate-level work in selected fields for commuting students. "Particular concern should be for those who wish to pursue graduate study on a part-time basis while holding full-time employment," the council suggested.

"I do not exaggerate when I say that from my first week on the job to the present, the questions most often asked me throughout the community about the College have been and are: 'When is the College going to offer graduate programs?' and 'Why doesn't Mary Washington College have graduate programs at night and in the summer?' " President Woodard told the full faculty in a discussion this year.

Serious inquiries have come to the College from administrative leaders in the surrounding public school systems seeking graduate opportunities for their teachers; from presidents of local banks, businesses and industries seeking graduate programs for their employees; from military personnel stationed nearby and from adult citizens in the area interested in pursuing knowledge and developing new insights and appreciations.

Specific programs will be developed after the College has received legislative approval to offer master's level degrees.

Undergraduate Needs Being Met

The College has begun reaching out to meet the undergraduate needs of individuals in the Fredericksburg area with the Bachelor of Liberal Studies Degree for adults who want to finish a college degree program at a pace that suits their individual schedules. Already three people have graduated from MWC with Bachelor of Liberal Studies degrees, although the program is only a year old. BLS students can receive credit for certain life experiences and may take challenge exams in areas where they have special competences.

New program ideas for expanding the overall undergraduate offering include programs in historical preservation, business administration, performing arts (combining dance and drama), public administration, computer science and environmental earth science.

The Typical Student?

A look at the faces attending MWC reflects the growing number of adults on campus and the increasing percentage of men. There is no real "typical" student, rather there are several varieties of students, all who have similar academic backgrounds.

Enrollment figures for this fall show an increase in part-time students from 137 in 1973 to 289 in 1978, which accounts for nearly 13 per cent of the total student body. Male students have progressively increased in number, too, from 64 in 1972 when coeducation was introduced, to 102 in 1973, to 348 in 1978. The total number of students has increased also by 191 students in the past five years.

Whether male or female, the MWC full-time freshman usually has followed a college preparatory course in high school and has Scholastic Aptitude Test scores totalling just over 1,000. Dean of Admissions Conrad Warlick pointed out that "Students accepted for admission are generally in the top third of their graduating class."

"Alumni are being asked to become active participants in recruiting students for MWC," Warlick added. Alumni have helped the College in selecting students for several years by choosing recipients of Regional Scholarships. Ways are being explored to increase their participation in the overall recruiting effort. They may conduct tours of campus, hold receptions for applicants and attend college day and college night programs throughout the U.S. and abroad.

After College, What?

Mary Washington expects to retain its liberal arts and sciences tradition, yet, college administrators are aware of parents' and students' immediate concerns about employment after graduation. An academic internship program, where students receive college credit for carefully planned and supervised work experiences related to their academic program, is expanding rapidly. Internships give reality and greater meaning to students' studies, increase motivation, provide an orientation to the world of work and provide useful employment contacts. The College Placement Office, another dimension of the career services focus, brings students and employers together through a College-wide Career Day and by keeping students' credentials on file for referral to interested employers. Alumni of the College also may use the Placement Office when seeking employment.

A Teaching Faculty

The College is especially proud of the quality of its faculty. Currently 79 per cent of the faculty hold doctorate or other terminal degrees and others are actively working to upgrade their credentials. Although Mary Washington emphasizes teaching as the first priority of the faculty, many find time to research and publish articles and books. History professor William B. Crawley, for instance, has written a book on the political life of former Virginia Governor William M. Tuck, which is to be published this fall. Other faculty writings have been published recently in such periodicals as Nuclear Physics, The Psychocultural Review, Behavior Genetics and Behavior Biology.

Some faculty members are sharing their knowledge by teaching public service offerings for members of the community. Classes in antique American furniture and piano are planned for this year. Last year the history department sponsored a series of symposiums for the public on the topic of slavery, and a course on the Middle East will be taught this year.

Going beyond its own perimeters, the College is now offering courses in business and financial management at the Quantico Marine Corps Base in Northern Virginia. In the sequence of courses being taught at Quantico, MWC faculty members will begin teaching at the base during the second semester of this year. Arrangements have been made with the Naval Surface Weapons Center at Dahlgren, Virginia to provide to its employees courses in such areas as computer science, math and writing.

Vice President A. R. Merchent, who administers the program, sees the College's role in the community expanding. "Although the College has had evening courses on campus for about eight years, it is now expanding the evening offering to provide courses needed by people in the community who are working toward degrees and updating their knowledge for jobs," he said. Merchent anticipates the evening and weekend courses to continue to expand "as the population growth in this area expands."

Town-Gown Role Expands

Members of the Fredericksburg area are making use of the College in other ways, too. Physical facilities, such as the swimming pool in Goolrick Hall, are being used by non-profit organizations like the YMCA; the auditorium in George Washington Hall houses travelogs and concerts for non-campus groups, and lighted tennis courts, now under construction, will be available for public use during certain hours.

The College-Community Symphony Orchestra is a good example of how the college and community have matched forces. The 85-piece orchestra, composed of MWC students and musically talented citizens of the Fredericksburg area, presents four concerts throughout the year, free of charge, to the public. The conductor is MWC music professor James E. Baker, and the concerts are held in the auditorium of George Washington Hall.

Renovation Rather Than New Construction

With the student population expected to remain relatively stable, few new construction projects will be seen on the MWC campus. Rather, renovation of older buildings will take precedence. Notable among these projects is the renovation of Monroe Hall and the planned upgrading of Willard Hall dormitory. Both buildings were on campus when the College first opened early this century, and both are showing their age. In Monroe, where renovation will begin immediately, heating,electrical and plumbing systems will be reworked, floors replaced, stairwells altered to conform to fire codes and rooms and hallways reconfigured. The building, which houses such departments as history, political science, economics, education and religion, will also be made to conform to federal standards regarding accessibility for handicapped persons.

Like the Monroe project, the plan for Willard Hall will not alter the outside look of the building. Renovation is expected to begin there in 1979 and is estimated to cost $1.2 million.

Other changes include air conditioning of Klein Theater, the ballroom of ACL and two dining rooms of Seacobeck Hall. The swimming pool in ACL, no longer used, is being renovated as a student social center and completion of the tennis-soccer complex on Hanover Street is imminent.

Streamlined Administration

Administratively, a computerized management system is streamlining work for both the College staff and students. William M. Anderson, Jr., vice president for administration and planning, heads up the development of the new system.

The system provides the various College offices with up-to-date reports on a variety of activities. Anderson said the new management information system "facilitates better management and aides in the planning efforts of the College."

For the first time, students used the computer to register for fall 1978 classes. Instead of long lines and crowded tables, registration was accomplished with small groups of students presenting their course selections to a member of the College staff, who entered them into the computer. Students normally were able to register in less than five minutes.

The computer has also "enabled the College to keep pace with the reporting requirements of the state and federal government without adding additional staff," the Vice President said. Such government reports have increased enormously and require personnel to gather large amounts of data in short periods of time.

At the heart of the management information systems project is the new, sophisticated computer, a Hewlett-Packard 3000. The computer center is under the supervision of Director of Institutional Research Dale A. Brown.

State Support Not Enough

The establishment of the Mary Washington College Foundation two years ago brought a new era to the College, as administration officials faced the need to supplement state revenues with privately-donated funds. The College has been challenged with funding the Regional Scholarship Program, originally established as a gift, and will need $100,000 per year to keep it in operation. The program provides $1,000 scholarships to 100 students each year, and is awarded solely on the basis of academic merit and potential of the student.

This year the College hired its first full-time director of development, who will coordinate the fund raising activities of the College. George E. Ball, formerly associate director of development at Brown University, will also serve as executive director of the MWC Foundation.

What the Future Holds

The future of MWC "will be one of continued excellence in academic programs, an expanded College role in providing educational opportunities to part-time students, new services to the area and increased emphasis on sound management practices," observed President Woodard. Physical changes will remain minimal, yet the College will continue to meet the needs of its students and will take thoughtful initiative in planning for the future.

Katherine Hopper – MWC Rector

Three Women to Lead

Three women, all alumni of Mary Washington College are now leading the College as officers of its governing board–marking the first time that Mary Washington or any other state supported college in Virginia has had women in all top board positions.

Katherine E. Hopper of Fairfax, Va., Gwendolyn A. Cumming of Hampton, Va., and Irene L. Brown of Poquoson, Va. were all elected to the top board positions in the month of September.

Mrs. Hopper, a 1930 graduate of the college and six year veteran of the board is serving as rector. She replaces Lewis Walker of Petersburg, Va. who has been rector since 1972, when the college became independent of the University of Virginia. Mrs. Cumming, who graduated from MWC in 1952 and was appointed to the board in 1972, is the new vice rector, and Mrs. Brown, a 1939 graduate and board member since 1972, is secretary of the board. All three will serve two-year terms, and along with Donna H. Henderson of Botetourt and Warner N. Dalhouse of Roanoke will form the board's executive committee.

Mrs. Hopper said after her election by her fellow board members that there are two issues of special concern to the board during the 1978-79 academic year. They are to push for the adoption by the General Assembly of Mary Washington's application to offer the master's degree and to find ways of funding the College's Regional Scholarship Program. The scholarship program provides $100,000 per year for 100 students to attend Mary Washington, and is awarded solely on the basis of academic merit. Funded originally by a gift, the college is now challenged with raising the money to continue the program, she said.

She said the recent hiring of the college's first director of development will help the college greatly in supporting the scholarship program.

"I am also interested in maintaining the high quality found in Mary Washington's academic program and in its faculty," Mrs. Hopper said. One function of the board, she pointed out, is to approve faculty promotions and to hire new faculty members.

Mrs. Hopper, a former teacher, supervisor of guidance and coordinator of pupil sservices in the Fairfax County schools, also directed the Governor's School for the Gifted at Mary Washington for four years from 1974-1977.

Mrs. Cumming, the new vice rector, is a former ninth grade social studies teacher and the mother of four children. She has been active in numerous community organizations and served as vice president of the college's National Alumni Association. Mrs. Brown is vice president and treasurer of the Ft. Eustis Bus Terminal, Inc. and served for a short time as assistant registrar at Mary Washington College. She is now the president of the board of directors of the Mary Washington College Foundation.

Sue Roberson Smith

1976 Graduate Returns

Sue Roberson Smith, a 1976 graduate of Mary Washington College, really didn't expect to be returning to campus so soon. But Governor John N. Dalton of Virginia changed things for her.

The Governor appointed Miss Smith to the College's Board of Visitors this summer, and in September she was back on the MWC campus for the first of many board meetings she will attend.

The appointment of Miss Smith resulted from the Governor's pledge to appoint recent graduates to boards of visitors of state - supported colleges.

Although commenting that she was "surprised" to learn of her appointment to the board, Miss Smith went about the task of learning how to be a board member by attending all committee meetings and the full board session in September.

As a graduate of only two years, Miss Smith looks at the college with a view not unlike that of the other members of the board. The college, she says, should "provide a liberal arts education for individuals seeking academic excellence." MWC is distinctive "for its emphasis on quality instruction," and its low student-teacher ratios allow individual scholastic attention–"a rarity for most undergraduate students today."

In looking at the college's coeducational status, Miss Smith said recently that the presence and interaction of men on a predominately female campus "has modified but not eliminated the uniqueness of Mary Washington." The present balance of enrollment, she said, "provides a distinctive atmosphere for education that cannot be found elsewhere in the state and contributes to the diversity of educational opportunities for Virginia's citizens."

Mary Washington should also take full advantage of its location near Washington, D.C. and Richmond, Virginia, the new board member said. "This proximity should be used actively for supervised faculty-student field experiences. When combined with the more settled atmosphere of the academic campus, the students' understanding of the value of their education can be strengthened."

The new board member was a geography major at MWC, and is now working for the State of North Carolina in the Division of Policy Development, where she is in charge of computer graphics. She has completed work on a master's degree at the University of North Carolina and lives in Raleigh.

While at MWC, Miss Smith was a junior counselor, was on the Dean's List for her last two years, was an administrative assistant in the geography department, and was a member of the Association of American Geographers.

She was a graduate teaching and research assistant at UNC from August 1976 through May 1978 and served as assistant project supervisor and research analyst for the State of North Carolina from June through August 1977.

Governor Dalton also announced the reappointments of Mrs. Katherine Edmonson Hopper of Fairfax and Gen. John G. Castles of Corbin to the MWC board.

Looking Back

The Annual Reception

Reprinted with the permission of Dr. Edward Alvey from his book, "History of Mary Washington College," 1908-1972

An unforgettable experience for new students and for the faculty too, in the 1940s and '50s was the annual reception, held on the first Saturday evening of the new session. Promptly at eight, the entire faculty and administrative staff, accompanied by wives or husbands, lined up in a vast arc on the roof garden or, if the weather was inclement, in the Hall of Mirrors. Resplendent in full dress or tuxedo, with formal evening dress for the ladies, the assembled faculty presented a formidable appearance, especially to youthful freshmen as they emerged from the stairs leading to the roof garden.

The line was headed by President and Mrs. Combs, with Dean and Mrs. Alvey next, then department heads, full professors, and so on down the line of academic hierarchy. There was no actual lining up in terms of rank or seniority; it was simply understood that the professors and their wives or husbands would be at the beginning of the line and the newly appointed instructors would stand at the far end.

The president of the student government stood next to Dr. Combs and presented each student by name to the president of the college. Names were passed along in formal introductions as the students progressed slowly down the long line. Every new student – and there were often between six and seven hundred – shook hands with every faculty member until the end of the line was reached. Introductions were usually followed by a polite, "So glad to have you" or "Where are you from?" Any further conversation usually was cut short by the filing up of students waiting to shake hands. Delays in the process were discouraged by faintly audible mutterings of faculty members further down, who were ready to greet the next student. Gaps in the line meant a prolongation of the entire procedure.

A steady flow of students was ensured by setting exact times, such as the second floor of Willard on the stairs at 8:15, the third floor at 8:40, and so forth. The dean of women, in the background, saw that the line progressed evenly and without a break until the entire group of freshmen and transfer students had passed along. Students were told in advance to have an evening dress ready for this formal occasion. For some, it was their first long dress, and their apprehension was often apparent as they faced the prospect before them.

The vista that greeted new arrivals was pleasing and picturesque. Electric lanterns around the parapet gave a mellow illumination to the entire scene. The college orchestra played soft music in the background. Candlelight and silverware gleamed on the white cloths of the buffet tables where bowls of bright red punch and plates of petits fours, ready to be served by students of the home economics department, also in evening dress, awaited the conquerors of the receiving line. Names were curiously garbled as they were passed along in the long series of introductions. Especially difficult were names with unusual pronounciations. Some faculty members simply gave up on passing along the student's name and merely said, "And this is my wife," or "And this is Mrs. Smith" Students related amusing stories of the names by which they were being introduced by the time they reached the last instructor.

Throughout the reception, the orchestra had been playing in the background. There was little dancing of students with each other until the receiving line disbanded and the male faculty members became available. Then wives surrendered their husbands to a waiting group of eager dancers. Young unmarried men of the faculty were particularly in demand as partners, and some could dance only a few steps until the next student cut in. It was a heady experience for both young and old, and their wives graciously stood in little groups on the sidelines to allow husbands to savor the rush to the fullest. Young single instructors, new to an all-girl college, found the entire procedure somewhat disturbing, but in a rather delightful way.

It was pleasant to watch as the sheen of silk evening gowns caught the flashes of reflected light from the lanterns, and white shirt fronts gleamed in sharp contrast to the rich colors of the dresses.

These dances always ended at midnight at the latest. By that time, all but the most ardent dancers had drifted away. It was customary to close with a medley of dreamy selections rather than "Home, Sweet Home," for the latter seemed a little too risky on a freshman's first Saturday night away at college. The usual sequence included " Goodnight, Sweet Heart" "I'll See You in my Dreams," and finally, "Aloha-Oe" with its beautiful refrain, "Farewell to thee. . until we meet again." The notes of the violin carried the melody in a way that seemed to stimulate soft humming as the dancers concluded their final turns.

Wives then reclaimed their husbands and wraps, and all filed down the flights of stairs to the ground floor of GW where Wallace stood to bid them a final goodnight. "Aloha-Oe" was a pleasant song to hum in a reminiscent way as a sort of extension of the pleasures of an evening under the stars when the trek homeward slowly began.

On Campus

Back on Board

MWC President Prince B. Woodard is serving as 1978-79 vice-chairman of the Southern Regional Educational Board. Elected during the SREB's annual meeting in June, he succeeds Otis A. Singletary, president of the University of Kentucky. Woodard has served on the board's Executive Committee and its Commission on Regional Cooperation. He was first appointed to the board in 1968 while he was director of the Council of Higher Education for Virginia. In 1972, while chancellor of the West Virginia Board of Regents, he was appointed to serve as one of West Virginia's members, and in 1975, a year after becoming president of Mary Washington College, he was again named to be one of Virginia's SREB members.

On the Market Again

The first major exhibition and sale of art works by Gari Melchers in 40 years was held at the Graham Gallery in New York City during October. Melchers, who lived at Belmont, a 27-acre estate near Fredericksburg, was considered the best-known painter of his day. Not long after his death in 1932, most of his paintings were taken off the market and brought back to Belmont. The estate, including Melchers' studio, is administered for the state of Virginia by Mary Washington College. Proceeds of the sale will go into an endowment to support operations of the Gari Melchers Memorial Gallery.

In Concert

The MWC Concert Series has scheduled the National Chorale, Feb. 27, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of George Washington Hall and guitarist George Britton, April 15, 1979 at 2 p.m. in the outdoor amphitheater. Ticket information for these productions may be gotten by calling the Office of Student Activities (703) 373-7250, ext. 273.

Bernard C. Lemoine

One of Three

Dr. Bernard C. Lemoine, professor of music at MWC, was one of three Americans chosen to represent the American Musicological Society at the Second European Liszt–Symposium held in early October in Eisenstadt, Austria. He presented a paper on tonal organization in selected late piano works of Franz Liszt which was published by the European Liszt Centre. A graduate of Oberlin College, the University of Illinois and Catholic University, Lemoine came to MWC in 1965.

On Stage All

The Department of Dramatic Arts and Dance opened its performing year in October with Hobson's Choice, an English comedy-drama. In early November the MWC Dance Company performed with new ballets, including a modern abstract on point choreographed by Kathleen Harty Gray, and a dramatic ballet combining folk, modern and classical dance based on the American Southwest in the drought season.

Other performances scheduled this year are The Wizard of Oz, the classic children's play, 7:30 p.m. Nov. 29-Dec. 3, Klein Theater; The Tempest, by William Shakespeare, a new adaptation of this comedy designed especially for the MWC stage, directed by Roger Kenvin and choreographed by Sonja Dragomanovic Haydar, 8:15 p.m. Feb. 21-25, Klein Theater; Jacques Brel is Alive and Living in Paris, the sophisticated continental musical hit directed by Neil Howard, 8:15 p.m. April 18-22, Klein Theater; a special production of The Belle of Amherst, a one-woman show based on the life of Emily Dickinson, the American poet, portrayed by drama major Mary Beth Sheridan and directed by senior drama major Michael Higbee, 8:15 p.m. Dec. 6, 7, Klein Theater.

Tickets to the Klein Theater dramatic productions are $2 to the public and $1 for students. Tickets to the special production are $1 for adults and 50 cents for all students. Call the box office (703) 373-7250, ext. 375, for reservations or further information.

On the Air with WMWC

WMWC, Mary Washington's campus radio station, was scheduled to go on the air this fall, after many years of planning by students, administration and faculty. Radio signals, which travel through electrical wires instead of the air, may be picked up in dorms by students who plug in their radios to existing electrical outlets.

Station officials said that programming will definitely include "the top 40," but added, "We want to be innovators, to look for new formats, and new ways of doing things." Manager Jeannie Weller ('79) said world, national, state, local and MWC news will be a part of that format. Future plans call for taping visiting lecturers on campus and providing delayed broadcasts for those who could not attend.

MWC alumni may still get involved in WMWC by donating albums popular during their college days to the station. They may be mailed to WMWC Radio, Ann Carter Lee Hall, Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, Va. 22401.

New England Summers

Dr. Clavio Ascari, associate professor of modern foreign languages at MWC, has been named director of one of the summer language schools at Middlebury College in Vermont. He will direct the Italian School, one of the seven schools conducted each summer at Middlebury and noted as the most prestigeous language schools in the country. Ascari has taught in the Italian School for nine summers beginning in 1966. The Middlebury Language Schools draw faculty from throughout the U.S. and abroad and award master's and doctorate level degrees.

Take One

Not only are MWC students tuning in to their own radio station, but also they are viewing original MWC programming on their television sets. AVC-TV, broadcasting on cablevision channel 6, began operation in September. Produced by members of the College's audio-visual department, the programming includes a once-a-week original program about MWC. The station also serves faculty and students by broadcasting video-taped programs and movies. Faculty members may request that a program be shown and then assign students to watch it. College television sets in dorms and academic buildings that are connected to the cablevision line will pick up the programs. Producers of the shows, Richard P. Maniscalco ('77), media specialist, and Mary Byrd ('77) want to include segments about faculty members and college services and even plan to show a 1947 film clip of Mary Washington.

Faculty Reunite

Three members of the Mary Washington College faculty who have been employed for 30 years met recently for a mini-reunion.

The three, Clyde Carter, Mary Ellen Stephenson and Laura Sumner, were among 19 faculty members employed in 1948. This was the largest number of new faculty to have been employed by the college in a single year. The college was in a transition state, with faculty and curriculum moving from the former teachers college to a full-fledged liberal arts college. A group of 15 of these faculty members met in 1958 for a 10th reunion, and nine of them reunited in 1973 for a 25th reunion.

The original group of 19 included James Allison, Alice Brandenburg, Ben Early and Charmenz Lenhardt in English; Clyde Carter in sociology; Edwin Jones and Mary Ellen Stephenson in modern foreign language; Kurt Leidecker in philosophy; Ray Sumner in political science; Laura Voelkel Sumner in classics; Stanley Bulley in music; Harry Hewetson in economics; Preston Burns in physics; Marguerite Carder, Mrs. Morgan Harper and Carolyn Taylor in the library; and Tannye Burnette, Mary Gratzer and Josephine Hubble in physical education.

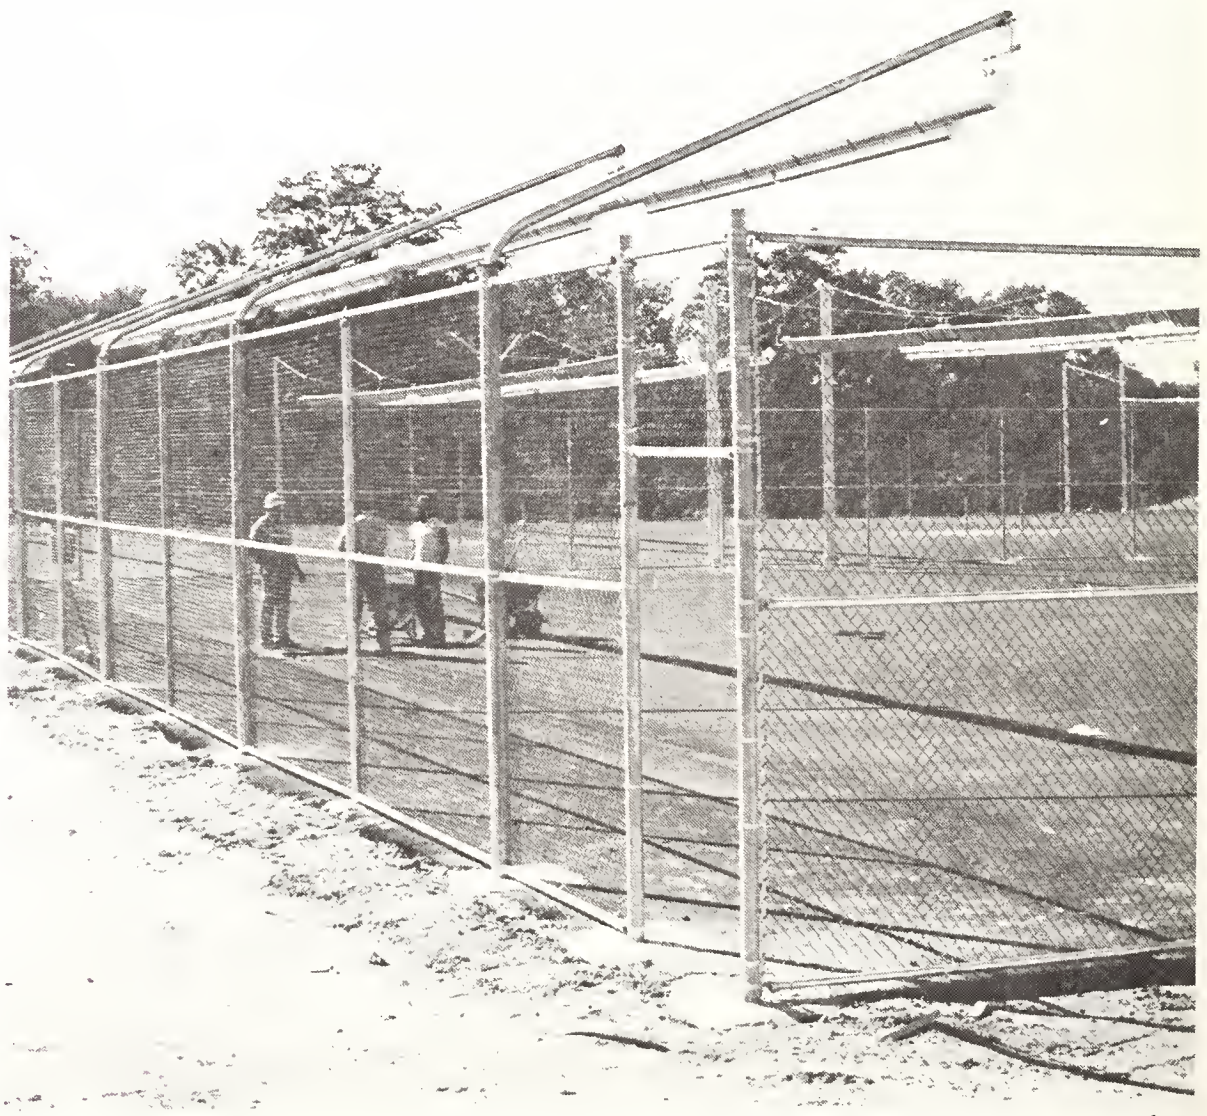
Battleground Set for Action

The first stage in development of an outdoor athletic area at MWC is nearing completion as construction proceeds on a tennis court/soccer field complex off of Hanover Street behind Brompton. Heindl-Evans Inc., of Mechanicsville, Va., is completing the $179,000 first stage, which includes 10 lighted tennis courts and a soccer field. Eight of the tennis courts are of tournament quality and two are of championship quality. Coin-operated meter boxes to control lighting will be in operation as an economy measure. The regulation sized soccer field, located next to the courts, will be the location of MWC's home soccer games.

Nicknamed "The Battleground," the complex will later include a surfaced track to the west of the tennis and soccer field area.

A Penny Saved

Tuition at Mary Washington remains the same at $788 a year for Virginia students and $1633 a year for non-Virginia students, for the fourth consecutive year.



Construction nears completion on tennis / soccer complex

Alumni News

Putting Heads Together

Nearly 70 alumni class agents, chapter representatives and Regional Scholarship Committee members attended the 1978 Alumni Leadership Conference in September.

Held at MWC, the conference included a joint morning session with speeches by MWC President Prince Woodard and Dean of Admissions Conrad Warlick to bring participants up to date on happenings at the college.

Afternoon sessions were divided and topics geared to the participants' needs. Class agents discussed guidelines for writing class news for the college magazine. They also learned techniques for researching topics that could be developed into feature articles about alumni, and heard about plans for the 1979 Homecoming and the annual fund.

Class agents learned about publicizing their chapter activities, recruiting new students for MWC, telefunds, special chapter projects and alumni office support.

During a luncheon in Seacobeck Hall, the entering freshmen Regional Scholars were introduced and each was presented a certificate.

Mary Carson Appointed to CASE

Mary B. Carson, director of alumni affairs at Mary Washington College, has been appointed for a one year term to the Board of Directors of the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) - District III. CASE is a professional organization composed of institutional advancement officers: alumni, development and information services.

Mrs. Carson will organize a mini - conference featuring topics of interest for small, predominately female, colleges and universities.

ALUMNI ELECTIONS
Coming – See next issue!

Plan Now for Homecoming

MWC's 1979 Homecoming is scheduled for April 20–22. A variety of new activities is being planned and many traditional events will be continued.

The classes ending in four and nine will hold reunions and the class of 1929 will enter the Golden Club, which honors graduates of 50 years or more.

All events are open to all alumni, whether or not they are members of a reunion-year class, Homecoming Chairman Pat Blosser said. She encouraged members of non-reunioning classes to plan special mini-reunions and to seek help from the Alumni Office in organizing any special activities.

Brochures will be mailed to all members of reunioning classes outlining the activities for Homecoming, and the winter issue of the college magazine will list the full schedule of activities and a reservation form.

Charlotte Chapter Meets

The Charlotte Chapter of the Mary Washington College Alumni Association opened its year with a meeting held in the home of Lawson Stillman Greenwood '68. Gloria Shelton Gibson '69 presided over the meeting and Mary B. Carson, director of alumni affairs, spoke about the newest happenings on campus and in the Alumni Association.

The chapter reported that the "great garage sale," was very successful and presented a check in the amount of $75 to the MWC Foundation.

Officers for the upcoming year are: Gloria Shelton Gibson '69, president; B. J. Bowden Miller '68, vice president; Michele Gunderson Brown'69, secretary; Eleanor Logan Thompson '70, secretary elect and Lawson Stillman Greenwood '68, treasurer.

Meetings for the year will include a crafts night on November 14; meeting on January 9; tax seminar on February 13, and election of officers on April 10.

DA Nominations Are Sought

The MWC Alumni Association is comprised of many distinguished alumni, but each year at Homecoming, one alumnus is singled out for the distinctive honor of being the MWC Distinguished Alumnus.

Your help is needed in identifying alumni who have made an outstanding contribution in one or more of the following areas: his/her profession or career, civic activities, creative endeavors in the arts and/or sciences, humanitarian causes and service to Mary Washington College.

Remember that nominees must be graduates of Mary Washington College, and that they may not be current members of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association. The candidate should not be aware of his or her nomination; therefore, information in support of candidacy should be sought from other sources.

Persons nominated but not selected are automatically reconsidered in subsequent years if the biographical information is updated. Nominators will be expected to keep the files on their nominees up-to-date.

The next award will be presented on April 21, 1979. Nominations must be received by December 1, 1978. They should be submitted to Reba Collier Thorpe, Route 1, Box 80, Myrtle Acres, Newsoms, Va. 23874. Forms for making nominations are available from the Alumni Office, P.O. Box 1315, College Station, Fredericksburg, Va. 22401.

Regional Scholars Introduced

Each year 25 entering freshmen are awarded $1,000 scholarships to attend MWC under the Regional Scholarship Program. The scholarships recognize superior academic preparation and potential for achievement and are the only scholarships or awards made by MWC solely on the basis of academic merit. Twenty of these outstanding students come from Virginia's 10 congressional districts and five come from out-of-state. The award is repeated each year for each student, if he or she maintains an eligible grade point average. Originally financed by a gift, the program is now funded by the College through the annual fund. A group of Regional Scholars will be introduced in each issue.

Have you ever wondered where an MWC Chapter is located? How do you join? What are the requirements? Your questions can be answered by looking at this MWC Chapter map. The chapters established are listed along with the names of the presidents. If there is not a chapter in your area, why not start one? We have Chapter Handbooks and lists of alumni living in your area that we can send to you.

If you attended MWC for two semesters you are an alumnus. Nothing special is required to join a chapter except your enthusiasm for MWC. Just drop a card in the mail to the chapter in your area or write to the Alumni Office. The staff will be happy to supply you with any information you may need.

I have had recent letters from Elsie Wood Rice and Margaret Sayre Ransone. Margaret enclosed a 1913 picture sent to her by Jean Graves Dulany who lives at Friendship manor in Roanoke. (A feature article was printed on Margaret in the Newport News Times Herald on July 5.) Margaret wrote that Edna Gibbs Hunter plans a two week stay on the Eastern Shore, her old home. Her granddaughter graduated from high school in Florida with highest honors and will attend a Baptist college this fall. Mannie Torbert Kelly and husband, Alonzo, are in a nursing home in Bristol, Tennessee. Mannie has a dentist son there. Elsie Wood Rice wrote me of Alumni Recognition Day. She was the guest of Anita Pepmeier Bennett. Elsie and her sister-in-law have cared for two of Elsie's great grandchildren all summer. Their father, a Marine captain, has been transferred to a base in North Carolina. Now granddaughter Carol, husband and family can be together again.

One of my great grandsons, an Eagle Scout, enjoyed a bus trip to Philmont Scout Ranch and Explorer Base near Cimarron, New Mexico, this summer. My daughter, Virginia, with whom I live, is on an 11 - day trip to Nova Scotia, a 35th wedding anniversary celebration. I am well taken care of by my grandchildren and nephew while Virginia and Charles are away.

Have just received news that a granddaughter has reached California where she will be in the marketing division of a popular firm.

Virginia Dillard Bowie
604 Lewis St.
Fredericksburg, VA.

The Class of 1921 has not had a class agent for many years. Virginia Dillard Bowie and Lucile Hansford Brooks have agreed to be class agents temporarily.

Last spring letters were sent via the Alumni Office to all 1921 alumni. Virginia and Lucile got responses from Lucy Sibley Parkins and Mary Wene Atkinson, but did not hear from others. Since leaving MWC, Lucy taught, married and did substitute teaching. A widow for 12 years, she lives in Norfolk in a co-operative apartment where she serves as manager.

After leaving MWC Mary Wene Atkinson graduated from Peabody College and worked 36 years as a school librarian in Chattaneooga. She enjoyed a happy life with her two sisters , and since their deaths, lives alone in Signal Mountain, Tennessee. She hears from Miss Grace Houchen and Mrs. Tyner.

Marian Boxley Thomas remained in the Fredericksburg area. She lived and taught in Spotsylvania County until her retirement. She has a son, a daughter, and several grandchildren and has been a widow for many years. Marian, because of ill health, now lives in the Fredericksburg Nursing Home.

Mattie Mae Hughes Cloe says that, contrary to the class prophecy, she did not return to her native state of South Carolina. She began her teaching career in the Arlington - Alexandria area, married, and continued to live there for some years before moving back to Fredericksburg with her husband, Henry, and three children. Her older son, joined the Marines and was killed in the Korean War. Her two other children are both married and live in Richmond. There is one grandson. Since the death of her husband and her retirement from teaching in Stafford County, Mattie Mae lives in Fredericksburg and keeps busy with many activities.

Mattie McCalley Chinn taught in the Stafford County schools until her retirement and continues to live there with her husband, Dick. They have three sons, one daughter and seven grandchildren. Her daughter, Janet, is a MWC graduate and one son will enter MWC this fall.

Helen Mills returned to MWC for her BS degree in 1925 and received her MS from Columbia University in 1929. Her career of 50 years in education included being supervising teacher in the FSTC (now MWC) and Campus Training school for practice teachers. After 31 years at Coker College, Hartsville, South Carolina, she retired as former dean of students and professor emeritus in 1971. Helen now lives in Fredericksburg.

Elizabeth Morrison, after an early career as physical education teacher, has been overseer of her farm, Hazelwild, in Spotsylvania County. She directs a kindergarten, trains more than 50 horses and teaches riding. She and her students have won more than 1000 ribbons through the years.

After graduation from MWC Mollie Orrock continued to live with her sister at their home in Spotsylvania County, where she taught in the county schools until retirement. In 1972 she and Maggie moved to the Baptist Village in Culpeper. There they have enjoyed the independence of a private cottage plus the advantages of the health care unit when needed, and the participation in home activities. Mollie has retained her interest in the Area Retired Teachers Organization. Unfortunately, a broken hip has kept her confined to the health care unit this summer. She sends love to all the "21ers."

After graduation from MWC, Lucile taught in Arlington and Williamsburg, married and returned to Fredericksburg to live with her husband, Floyd, and their daughter. Much later she returned to teaching in Stafford County and to MWC where she received her BA in 1959. Virginia graduated from MWC, taught in Newport News and lives there with her husband, a school principal, and two sons. Since retirement Lucile keeps very busy with volunteer work, woman's club, gardening and trips. Her last trip was to Ireland and Scotland in 1977 with the MWC alumni.

Mary Worman Sinclair and husband, Theodore, reside in Fredericksburg. They have two sons, Carol and Reid. Baird Henderson Mitchell lives with her daughter and family in Fredericksburg. They enjoy traveling together.

Virginia Dillard Bowie still lives in Fredericksburg and has been a widow for many years. She has two children and five grandchildren and said it was a pleasure to attend Homecoming '78.

CLASS AGENT
Mary Briscoe Butler
507 Jones St.
Suffolk, VA. 23434

Helen Hart Prasse lives in Fredericksburg, is active in school affairs, and is one of the guides at the Mary Washington House. Mary Bland Cabell lives in Norfolk and is a widow. She has two daughters, and a granddaughter, who is a sophomore at MWC. Mary's son is an orthodontist in Norfolk, Virginia.

May Murray came from Hampton to attend Homecoming '78. She looks just the same and stays busy with her arts and crafts work. Mary Briscoe Butler is a widow. She retired from public schools in 1970 and the Nansemond Suffolk Academy in 1975, but still substitutes. One son is retired and living in Hampton, Virginia. Her grandson graduated from the Naval Academy where he was second in his class. Mary has two granddaughters – one a sophomore at James Madison University, the other a freshman at Virginia Tech. She also has a grandson in the third grade.

Our girls have been moving! Billie Morris Borders is now living in Ormond Beach, Florida. Herthel Luckham Conley has moved from Kilmarnock, Va., to Weems, Va. Elizabeth Durkin Deady is now living in Venice, Florida. Marian Harrow Hudgins has moved to Hudgins, Virginia. Molly Vaughan Parrish is now living in Keswick, Virginia.

Please keep in mind that April 20-22, 1979, is the date for our 50th Anniversary celebration and start planning now to be there!

CLASS AGENT
Mary Anne Ratner Levy
43 Glenbrook Rd.
Monsey, NY 10952

The summer is certainly rolling on and still no letters from you on your whereabouts and happenings. However, you can say that I have also been remiss. Why not renew our interest in each other and in MWC? Soon we shall have to begin planning our reunion booklet. Please bring MWC up-to-date on your addresses so I can reach all class members. Let us try to make our 45th anniversary the greatest!

CLASS AGENT
Betty Griffith Schmidt
3910 Calverton Dr.
College Heights Estates
Hyattsville, MD 20782

(Betty is retiring as class agent, so we are now looking for a replacement.)

Bill and I went with the MWC group to Rio last February. Since the trip Bill and I went with the U. of Maryland on a Russian boat down the Danube. In June my daughter, Lynn, had to attend meetings for HEW in Martha's Vineyard, the home of Helen Shurtleff Tyra. Helen and I had every class together for four years but had not seen one another since graduation. Helen and Ed were very gracious to Lynn, taking her to their charming home and showing her around.

Eura Edwards Yates graduated from East Tennessee State and then attended Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth where she received a masters in religious education. She married a minister, and they have one son. She has written for educational magazines, was listed in Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America (1972) and was elected "Teacher of the Year" by her faculty three times.

Since I have no other news I will end this column with news of myself. Bill and I have been married only two years. He was the respected, beloved superintendent of schools, Prince Georges County, Maryland (11th largest county in the United States), and is now retired. Andy (senior partner in a law firm) and I had been married for over 32 years when he was taken with a fatal heart attack. It was a grievous shock as we had a wonderful life together and two lovely daughters. Now between us, Bill and I have five granddaughters. We keep busy attending the theater, football and basketball games and travelling. I bowl, play bridge and golf while he presides at Red Cross and Rotary meetings.

My year for doing this column is up. I hope someone else will take it over and that YOU will send news of yourself and others to our new class agent.

Susie Dickinson Hudson phoned on May 1st. She was in Newport News to see her mother and the rest of her family there. Her husband is a member of the President's Commission on Employment of the Handicapped, and her daughter, Harriet, is the head of the evaluation department with the Rehabilitation Center in Huntsville, Alabama. Daughter, Betty Sue received her master's last summer and teaches children with learning disabilities. Susie keeps busy with church and club work.

Dorothy McGuire Bunch's daughter graduated from Randolph Macon Woman's College in May and attended the French Language School at Middlebury College, Middlebury Vermont, this summer. In June, Page Whitehead Hladky and her husband, Emil were in Cambridge England, where they visited their son, daughter - in - law and grandson. Olivia Wheeler McCallum and her sister, Clara Wheeler ('31), had a wonderful trip to the New England states and Canada. "Bill" is the grandmother of two little boys, and on June 21 a little granddaughter was born.

Peggy Monroe Whitton wrote me a long letter in April. Ten years ago Peggy was in a bad automobile accident. They sold their 96 - acre farm and now have three acres in Round Hill. Two of her sons live in Alexandria. Another son, lives with his wife and two children in Katonah, N. Y. While in Washington I phoned Vernie Blankenship Knight and had a delightful talk. She has a new grandson, born July 31, 1978. She and Bus took a trip to England in September.

I phoned Mary Frances Varner but she was not at home.

All my children were in Charlottesville on May 21 to see the youngest graduate from the University of Virginia. This year Jonny is at Stanford. He has a research assistanceship to work toward his master's in civil engineering.

If I have forgotten anyone who gave me news please let Adelle or me know. We will be looking for your letters.

Elton Waring Markert writes from Port Charlotte, Florida, that husband, Ben, had unexpected surgery in January, 1977, followed by radiation treatments. All is well now. They expect to take off in August for Spain, Portugal, and Morocco for a month's tour. They now have a grandson and a grandaughter who live in Jensen Beach, Florida.

Frances Curtis Kapfer wrote that she had a nice trip to Bermuda over the spring school break. She had the misfortune to break a foot in June. Bea Childs French ('34) and husband, Don returned to Connecticut for the summer and fall. Bea wrote that she took a class in weaving. She is quite versatile in crafts. Don keeps busy with flowers and his vegetable garden, and has done some woodwork.

As news is limited this might be a good time to list the '37 graduates for whom there is no address. If you know anything about the girls mentioned would you please notify one of your class agents?

Help us locate: Gertrude Griffin, Elizabeth Haley, Phyllis Hersh, Fay Luther, Frances Mayse, Karis Jeanne McElroy, Mary Franklin Miller, Nannie Moore, Caroline Morris, Ruby Motley, Lois Peterson, Ruth Staples, Phyllis Teed, Genevieve Tyson, Alice Phillips, Virginia Comann, Temple Lee Beazley, Hazel Bricker, Katherine Mae Burgess, Dorothy Clark, Lucille Crockett, Elizabeth Davis, Catherine Fryden and Margaret Graves.

For those who missed the 35th reunion of our class - you missed a beautiful weekend. Those who shared in this occasion were Elizabeth Lewis Broughton, Alise Howerton Estes, Anne Isabel Gordon, Mary Pride Hunninghake, Helen Starnell Wills and Evelyn Anderson Wood.

There were four of us who attended Homecoming '78: Sara N. Boggs, Anne Isabel Gordon, Mary Pride Hunninghake and Helen Starnell Wills.

A. Isabel Gordon was recipient of the Distinguished Service Award presented to her by the Virginia College Placement Association at its 15th Annual Conference in Roanoke in April. This award is given in recognition of an association member, who has rendered a superior level of service to the association. Isabel is a charter member of VCPA and has held most offices in the organization, including being the group's president in 1967 - 68. She is currently archivist and historian for the group. She is only the third member of the association to have received the award. Isabel was also elected president of the Fredericksburg Chapter of SPCA.

Mary Frances Featherstone Ball has been visiting in Fredericksburg. She is now living in Des Moines, Iowa.

WE WANT TO HEAR FROM YOU 42'ers . . . PLEASE WRITE!

Eleanor Donovan Machnov graduated from San Diego State University with a BS in nursing in 1968. She has worked in child psychiatry for almost nine years. She married John Machnov in 1974 and they have seven children and ten grand children. Margaret Berry Thomas and husband, Calvert, are now living in West Hartford. One of their sons, Calvert, is also living there, and another son, Bowie, is working with his dad at Thomas Cadillac Agency in Hartford. A daughter, Brooke, is married and lives in Houston, Texas, and the youngest son, Douglas, is a lawyer with Hatchett & Ford law firm in Hampton.

Nancy Brooker Bronwell ('43), Rita Fortmann and Margaret all spent the day together in New York City. They all were roommates in Madison Hall. Rita retired last summer from her career in physical rehabilitation. Margaret and Letty Waugh Dudley ('45), see one another occasionally because both of their husbands are on the Board of Trustees at Washington and Lee University.

Anne Saghy Dillman is serving on the New Jersey State Board of Education and the state's Board of Higher Education. Anne say that MWC has been her point of reference and has inspired her to do better things for county and state colleges. Her husband, George, is with M & T Chemicals; her daughter, George Anne, received a masters in education, and son, Peter, is a student at Rutgers.

Ruth Henriques Johnson and husband, Sam, had a wonderful 23 - day tour of the British Isles in June.

From Mary Wallace Huskey comes a thank you for a great Homecoming '78 weekend. Her son is moving to Houston, Texas. She was a volunteer counselor for the Memphis Billy Graham Crusade. Dottie McGlothlin Mullins sent wonderful snapshots taken of us at the reunion, these will go to Bertha for the scrapbook. Since May, Dottie has been on the travel circuit - New York, Washington, Nashville, Virginia Beach, Texas - The Homestead for the Virginia Bar and New York for the American Bar Association. Evelyn Sheads Appleton moved in August to Clearwater, Florida. She was expecting a second grandchild that month, too.

It was truly exciting to see Jo Walker Magee and Roger (after 35 years) when I was inBlowing Rock, N. C. , this summer. They have a gift shop and dulcimer shop there from May through Labor Day. Both have retired, have five children and families scattered over the Southeast and live in Aike, S. C., in the winter months. They went to England for a trip in September. From the Wilmington, N. C., paper, I found that David Scott, son of Jean Senacle and David Scott, is running the Peachtree Tennis Club in Atlanta. Jean is still well know in tennis circles in N. C. and her four daughters, too all hold their own.

The Alumni Office has misplaced "Bonnie" Bendroth Weiss as '42; you may be sure that I'm not willing to give up anyone. That has been corrected. Also the picture of Peg Moran Logan, Evelyn Sheads Appleton and Ann Dennis Ryan should have read the "Class of '43."

I was pleased that 43 of you gave to the Alumni Fund last year – and we almost made our challenge. My goal is PERCENTAGE; I wish for 50 percent!

New grandmothers in the news: Grace Bailey Lindner's son, Hut has a daughter. Robin Michele. Hut is a Naval Academy graduate. Grace teaches English and reading at the Collegiate Schools in Richmond. Chris Brauer Krausse has three grandchildren now - son, Charlie, is the proud father. Her daughter, Carolyn, was married in August in Huntsville, Alabama, where the Krausses have lived for many years. Fran Watts Barker has a new grandson. Her son, John, now has two boys and lives near Fran and Jack in Parksley, Va. Fran's daughter, Nancy, has a son and lives nearby on the Eastern Shore. Fran is still a school - marm and Jack has a clothing store in Parksley.

What a lovely surprise to receive a call in June from Mary - Lou Conover Miller who was visiting her son, Peter, in Purcellville, Va! Mary - Lou lives in California and just graduated her fourth and last from Berkeley in June. Peter is associated with the Purcelville paper and is the father of a year - old son. Mary - Lou and Bob had just returned from a trip to Greece.

Helen Hawkins Olsen's son is a student at Old Dominion University in Norfolk. Gloria Post Goodsell's son was married in Tyler, Texas, where Gloria and Roger lived before moving to Ft. Smith, Arkansas, several years ago. Gloria came from Arkansas for our 1975 class reunion.

Congratulations from the Class of '45 to Hildy Parks Cohen on receiving the Distinguished Alumnus Award for 1978. Hildy has not only written two Tony Awards shows, but authored our MWC senior production – remember Buckle Down, Buck Private, etc?

Can you believe our 35th reunion will be in 1980 – it's not too early to start making plans to attend! And please send news so we can all keep up to date on our classmates.

Hope you all have had a good summer. I am writing this from our summer home at Eastham, Cape Cod, and have been enjoying get togethers with Mim Sollows Wieland and her family who are vacationing nearby. Earlier in the summer I had a pleasant experience listening to a lecture given by former MWC biology professor, Dr. Robert Pyle. He has now retired to Brewster, Cape Cod, and is a trustee at the Natural History Museum there. Had a great chat with him and his charming wife. It's a small world!

Martha Carr Huddleston's son graduated from Cox High School in Virginia Beach and will be attending William and Mary. Nat Wilton was up for the graduation.

Mary Cottingham Warren attended a child development class and Maurine Brevoort Seely ('46) was the guest speaker. Maurine is a children's service worker for Los Angeles County.

How many of you could put names with all the faces in our reunion picture? Ginny and Anna Mae are in the lower right hand corner. Trying to fill those four shoes will not be easy, at best. Without your help it will be impossible. If you will donate a little of your time and fifteen cents to Uncle Sam I'll do my best to keep track of your comings, goings, and wents.

Soon after reunion Joanne Harris left for her new State Department posting. She has an apartment and hopefully by now her worldly goods. Found Nancy Mosher Weir in Tristin, Ca., where she organized and is running the hospital gift shop. Son, Mo, graduated with honors in physics and has a grant for advanced study. Adele Crise Thomas is in Statesboro, Ga. Bus retired from the Navy and is teaching at the University while "Punky" is an interior decorator - no doubt inspired by four to a room in Willard. Gen Suits Lasker added a second grandson to the family tree.

Peggy Snellings Rampersad received the degree of doctor of philosophy in higher education this summer from the University of Chicago. Peggy resides in Chicago with her husband, Dr. Oliver R. Rampersa, and their daughter, Gita.

Although several months have passed since our 20th reunion, the memories of it are still fresh and pleasant. The reunion was wonderful in both renewing friendships and revisiting the campus which was so familiar so long ago. How the memories rushed back! Having attended the reunion makes reading the MWC Today all the more meaningful.

Jean Lee Anderson Chapman has done a fine job in being our class agent for the past 10 years. Judy, Barbara, Althea, Lucy and I hope to do as well. We hope all of you will cooperate in writing to us so we will have news to present for each magazine.

Two MWC classmates whom I see regularly are Puff Rice Scott and Yvonne Lewis Alexander. Puff Rice Scott was with us during our freshman year and then she transferred to Johns - Hopkins School of Nursing, Baltimore, Md. She and her family live about 12 miles from me in Bridgeville, Del. She and husband, Ralph, own and manage Scott's Furniture Store in Bridgeville. They have two children: Ralph, a sophomore at Salisbury State College.

Yvonne Lewis Alexander and her family live in Delmar, Del. Her husband, Harry, is president and general manager of Lewis Steel Products, Inc. Yvonne is active in church and community affairs and has been doing substitute teaching for the past three years. They have five children: Jeff, 20,; Beverly, 18,; Greg, 16, Brian, 14; and Wade, 10. Jeff and Bev both attend Salisbury State College.

Jean Lee Anderson Chapman had a mini-reunion / luncheon for us had a great time reminiscing. I had a MWC scrapbook full of pictures and memorabilia. Allene Tyler could not make it to the "Down Memory Lane" afternoon so I saw her later. Allene is recreational director at the YWCA in Richmond.

I talked with Barbara Shann Greenleaf who is one of the new class agents. We hope to be able to get in touch with more classmates by dividing the responsibility among five.

Celeste Dickson Steffen and her husband, Bill, have two lovely daughters, Gretchen and Betsy. She and her family live in Pittsburg, Pa.

Carrie Lee Briscoe and husband, Bill, are in Blacksburg, Va., where Bill is chairman of the Industrial Arts Educational Program at V. P. I. She is teaching seventh grade life science at one of the middle schools in the county. She and Bill have three children: Edward, a freshman at V. P. I.; Cammie, a high school junior; and Toy, a high school sophomore. They have moved several times since MWC but seem to think they are now permanently settled in Blacksburg.

Jean Ashe Crompton and Margot Metzler Mayher transferred to the University of Delaware after their sophomore years. Jean writes that she plans to enter law school this fall. She has two children: Rebecca, 19, a student at Bradford College in Mass. and Charlie, 15, a sophomore at Tower Hill School in Wilmington, Del. Margot and her family live in Edgewater, Md.

This past June I attended my high school reunion at Linden Hall, Lititz, Pa. One of my classmates who also attended, Jane Pinkerton Cooke, had been with us during our freshman year at MWC. It was fun to reminisce with her about both Linden Hall and Mary Washington. Also there to celebrate their 25th reunion were Mary Lamb Belknap ('57) and Prissy Ripple Baysinger ('57). Barbara Sheaffer Gallagher ('57) teaches in the same school district, Milford, which I do. She has two daughters, Susan, 15, and Tammy, 16.

I am a learning disability teacher at the Milford Middle School and thoroughly enjoy the work. My husband, Jim, is a history teacher at Lake Forest High School in Felton, Del. Our two children are Greg, 16, and Ann, 14.Greg is active in sports at Milford High School and Ann is active in the high school band.

I enjoy being one of the class agents and I am looking forward to receiving news about my classmates so that I might pass on the information in this column. Please write to you class agent and to one another. It is really enjoyable to renew friendships.

My junior year ex-roommate, Carol Noakes Robinson and husband Don are fine. Carol is in data processing for International Paper Co. Daughter Genny, is doing beautifully in school and thinking college. Son Ted, is busy, too. Spare moments find everyone relaxing on their boat. Carol hears from Fay Jessup Young on occasion. Her three sons are fine. Fay plays a lot of tennis.

Ann Riesen Faircloth is the Associate Program Director of a half - way house for alcoholics and finds it an extremely interesting job. Vince works for the Atlanta Gaslight Company. Her eldest son, Chip, loves swimming and snow skiing and is planning ahead to college. Mike, 14, dreams of being as great as Pele in soccer, and Jennifer, 10 is busy being a girl. Ann hears from Linda Morse Zinke. She, Hank and their three boys live in Florida and love it.

Postcard from B. V. Springer on vacation in Canada, she plans to tour some of the western states. Also, cards from Ann Brooks Papadatos from Greece. Has had fantastic weather this trip. Ann plans to hit the books again for six credits in the fall.

Irene Piscopo Rodgers writes she and Don continue their hectic travel schedule. They were in Toronto recently! Irene saw Nancy Montrastelle Curnutt for a nice visit.

Had a hot summer in Mobile. Virginia is four and will soon be taller than her mother or so it seems the way she is growing. She took swimming lessons at the local Y and hurls herself off the one meter board with no fear at all, Tom has started his own business, TATCO, Inc. He brokers valves, pipes, fittings, etc. All is well so far.

The 15th reunion of the Class of '63 was great! More of you should come to see what you have been missing.

Bob and our girls, Elizabeth and Sarah, went with me this time and we had our own mini - reunion with Bob's sister, Sallie Granger Daughtrey, Tom, and their boys, Bill and Clay. They have just gotten word of their transfer from Pittsburg, Pa. to Cherry Hill, N. J. We also enjoyed seeing Linda Vogt Musselman again. Linda teaches science in high school. She was planning a trip tp Ohio and a family reunion in Nebraska during the summer. Her daughter Leigh is very active in sports, especially horseback riding.

Linda Gulnac Steelman brought her husband, Bill and their three boys Robert David and Peter. Bill is with U. S. Trust Co. in N. Y. and they are still living in Mendham, N. J. Linda Wood Cranston and Luanne Halnan Newell came together just for the day on Saturday – both looking like '78 graduates rather than '63. How do you girls do it?

Also looking great was Peggy Martin Newcomb. Peggy is Senior Sales Director with Mary Kay Cosmetics. Husband, John, is an engineer with NASA. John and their daughter, Helen, 11, came with Peggy. They live in Gloucester Point Virginia.

Barbara Duke Jones has three children and serves on the Hanover County Planning Commission, and the Mental Health and Mental Retardation Services Board. Her husband is in the lumber business. Fran Ryan Myers, Charlie, and their three children Ann, Joe, and Frank – have returned to the states after spending two years in Germany with the Army. They are now living in San Antonio, Texas.

I will be teaching kindergarten this year at the Episcopal Day School where I taught third grade last year. It's a grand place to teach – twelve students per class in grades K through 4.

Please drop me a line and fill us all in on your news. I was happy to become class agent again after a five - year rest, but I really do need your help.

After a year's hiatus, I have finally gotten back into the old swing of reporting all the activities of our class. My life has been full with my new unmarried woman status and two new jobs - one as a loan officer at Security Federal Savings and Loan and my "moon-light" position as night manager at a local theater. With classes in marketing and Disco Dancing, I have managed to keep pretty busy.

I saw Lundi Baker at Miff Bigley Jones' wedding. Lundi is pulling in the big bucks as a radio engineer with NBC in D. C. Debbie Dawson Troy and hubby Phil traveled from Charlestown, S. C., through Richmond to attend Miff's wedding. Deb is emersed in her job and plans for Med school in '81. Courtney Mullins and her husband's first edition, is a boy, born this summer. Also expecting in February, are Peggy Royal Charnick and husband, Stan.

Cindie Ballentine is living in Richmond and working for a local firm in a management training program. Dru Stevens bought a house in the Bon Air section of Richmond, and is busy populating it with animals. Sidney Burd had finished MCV Physical Therapy school and is now practicing the healing arts. Teri Miles is very active with the Richmond MWC alumni board, and we keep in touch through all the Alumni Chapter activities.

I received a newsy letter from Becky Chambers Scanlon. It seems she is the new momma of, Kelly Chappell, class of 2000! Husband Michael is working in NYC for Mobil Corporation and they have a place in Cedar Grove, N.J.

Sue Scanlon Stefanik and husband Ed also are proud parents of a boy, Daniel Joseph, born July 26th. Becky writes that "Buns" Clark Powell and husband Tony are living in Ottawa, Canada. Terri Sterling is teaching fourth grade in Accomack County, and living on the Eastern Shore. Nancy Coleman is working with NBC in the advertising division. She keeps herself entertained by taking twice - yearly trips to the Virgin Islands with her husband Michael! Harriet Condrey is living in Newark, Del. and working in Wilmington as a vocational counselor for the Delaware - Elwyn Institute. Beth Feeney is working on her masters in speech pathology at the University of Auburn in Birmingham. Alabama. Lola Virginia Little is attending classes at Christopher Newport College for primary elementary certification.

Please let me know how you all are, and don't forget to send those news-clippings to keep the scrap - book up - to-date ! Patti Jo.

Penny's old roommate, Jacquie Hopkins, is working for the Aerospace Center in St. Louis, Mo. after a year of study at the University of Wisconsin.

Janis Lamar Woolcott was married in July to William Miller and is living in Richmond. She has been working on her masters in speech pathology.

Barbara Watkins has literally been moving all over the country. She has been training as a Realty Specialist with the Federal Highway Administration. At the time of her letter she was getting ready to leave Madison,Wisconsin and head for her next few months' training in California. Barbara also sends news that Ann Asworth is teaching second grade on the Eastern Shore; Martha West is teaching kindergarten in Portsmouth; Nancy Hoagland is a publicity assistant at G. P. Putnam's Publishing Co. in NYC.; Debbie Henderson is an ensign in the USN Nurses Corps and will be in San Diego in October; Sue Schryker is working in pediatrics at Yale Hospital in New Haven, Connecticut.

Congratulations to Kathy Baldwin Geary and husband, John, who are expecting their first child in February. They are stationed in San Diego where Kathye completed a master's program in chemistry and John is an ensign in the USN.

I have decided to return to MWC as a part-time student to get my teaching certificate. The minute I stepped on campus, I felt as though I had never left.

Thank you all who responded to my letters and I hope more will write next time. Laura Ann.

Tonya Sidden wrote that she is working on her master's in Rehabilitational Psychology at Appalachian State U and working at the Vocational Rehabilitation Facility in N. C. Sharon Sheppard Smith had a beautiful Christmas wedding last year. She married Roland Smith and is a learning disabilities teacher for the Raleigh County Schools while working on her master's.

Mary Shean sends different news. She's working at the Federal Reserve in Atlanta. She says Margaret Coles ('78) came to visit and Atlanta hasn't been the same since. Liz Manger Christie married Bill ('78) this summer and is working for an insurance company. I see quite a bit of Myra Fleenor ('78). Sounds like she had a dynamite trip out West this summer. She's working for National Health Maintenance in Maryland. I hear Phyllis Quinn got her master's and can get a job anywhere she pleases. It would be nice, wouldn't it? I'm still working at the Department of State and enjoying it. If anyone has any news please send it on. We need to hear from everyone. Julie.

Florence Georges is working for the Virginia Department of Highways in Fredericksburg, Virginia as a drafts man. Janet de la Concepcion is persuing an MA at the U. of K.

I had a nice note from Debora Love. She's teaching at the Hugenot Academy in Powhatan. Debbie and her fiance, David Saintsing, are planning a December 16 wedding in the chapel at the Univ. of Richmond where David is working on his masters in biology.

Leslie Nelson and John Hermann were married on June 3 and are now living in Princeton, NJ, where John is attending seminary. Theresa Shackelford will be teaching French in Ghana, West Africa, with the Peace Corps. Sue Giovanetti spent five weeks in Orleans, France this summer. She's at U Va now, working on her MA in French.

Vesa Luukkonen spent his summer working as an accounts representative with the Quaker Oats Co. (and recommends it as a great place to work). Lou is at Catholic U. in D. C. now, working for his MFA in a two year program in playwriting.

I just had a letter from Ellen V. Reynolds Hicks,('77). Vickie is still teaching in Decatur, GA. Her husband David has just finished writing a book which will be out sometime soon.

Pamela Anne Brown worked with the Department of the Interior this summer, in the Fish and Wildlife section. She was located in Gloucester Point, but did field work over most of northern Virginia.

I spent my summer riding horses and working for Taco Bell. I'm back at school now, at Indiana University, working on a masters in Library Science. It's quite a change from MWC – IU is a little more than ten times as big. I've also been very busy trying to organize an Alumni chapter in the Indianapolis-Bloomington, IN area. If any of you will be heading out this way or know any alumni in the area, please let me know. Take care. Lynn.

I am taking a break from the academic scene temporarily and working at Bloomingdale's Rockville, Md. In August I spent a wonderful week in Miami Beach, Fla. I attended the convention of American Hellenic Educational Progressive Association. In the next couple of months I hope to either have another job or to begin graduate school in January.

On May 27, Kathy Mayer, Kathy Smith and I attended the wedding of Holly Horuff and Dan Savage. Jenny Cockrell ('77) was Holly's maid of honor. Holly and Dan are living in Philadelphia, where Dan is completing his Ph.D. in pharmacology and Holly had begun work in cancer research. Kathy Smith is now Mrs. Randy Evans. They are living in Texas.

Most of the Russell third north gang have settled in the N. Va. area.Beth Hiers is a lab specialist at Hazelton Laboratories in Vienna. Laura Wilson is with the National Symphony Orchestra in the public relations department and has done lots of traveling this summer. In September, Beth and Laura moved into an apartment in McLean. Regan Mulreany and Betsy Moser also moved into an apartment in September in Fairfax. Regan began working with Delta Airlines in Roslyn as a reservations agent in July and Betsy is with the Loudoun County Social Services Dept. Meredith Schade, Madelyn McRae, and Sarah Reddington are living in a townhouse in Fairfax. Sarah worked in N.Y. this summer for Tennis Magazine and Madelyn vacationed in sunny California. Meredith has her work cut out for her with graduate classes at Georgetown University. Gail Guthrie and Vicki Walker are both teaching in Prince William County. Vicki is now living with Joanne Smith and Krista Wentz near Manassas. Joanne is with Hazelton Laboratories in Vienna and Krista is doing cancer research. Karen Reckmeyer is working at Bloomingdale's at Tysons Corner and has a retail career on her mind now. Leslie Goodwyn, who began working for Colonial Mortgage Co. in May in Montgomery, Ala., has now been transferred to Columbia, S. C. Beth, Laura, Regan, Betsy, Madely, Sarah, Gail, Vicki, Karen, and Mary Halpin ('79) were all in Richmond on August 19 to attend the wedding of Patti Brown and Steve Luzi. After a honeymoon in Orlando, Fla., Patti and Steve will be living in Fairfax. Patti is student teaching this fall. Also at the wedding were Rebecca Adams Mauck and Deborah Lee Schutte ('76). We all wish Mary Halpin, Mary Murphy, and Mary Zimmerman good luck this year at MWC.

Kathy Pritchard and Ron Napier ('77) are engaged and plan to get married next May. They are both in Charlottesville now where Ron is in law school and Kathy is working in a lab. Myra Fleenor came and had lunch with me while she was job hunting last summer after her cross country trip with Nancy Lackey. Tom Buchanan sent me some pictures of the Class Council picnic last April. Thanks Tom! — Vicki.

Summer is long over for the '78 grads many of whom are settled into "real" jobs. Vickie Bennett Goodrich is working as the assistant manager of a Clover Patch in Norfolk. Vickie also got married June 17 to Thomas Goodrich. I was in the wedding, which was outdoors on a beautiful day! Pam Brown was working for the Institute of Marine Science and was hoping either to go to graduate school or land a job with the government. I saw Nadina Barnes in mid - August. She was about to start a job with Blue Cross-Blue Shield in the D. C. area. She had heard from Stephanie Ailsworth who worked as a lifeguard this summer.

Kathy Beecher is working at Metropolitan Mortgage Fund in Alexandria as a loan processor. She is also busily making plans for her December wedding to Mike Ingrao. Lisa Barthello, after a hard summer at home in Ft. Walton Beach, Fla., is working at MMF, and living with Hilary Hammond. Hilary tried out a government job this past summer, and found she did not like it. Besides looking for a new job, Hilary is planning her February wedding to Michael Bikowski.

Lisa and Hilary are expecting permanent house guests in October. Susan "Fish" Bliss and Nancy Jo McDaniel hope to move in - after they get back from six weeks in Hawaii! Fish and NJ worked hard all summer, at Cape Cod and Va. Beach, respectively, to save money for their little jaunt.

I saw Bill Christie in August. He had just gotten a job as an environmental scientist with Versar, in the D. C. area. Perhaps more importantly, he and Liz Manger ('77) were married this past June.

I am at the University of South Carolina in a graduate library science program. Carrie Wagner is down here also. She is in a master's program in chemistry, leading eventually to a Ph.D. We would apprieciate any letters you might want to send to give us an occasional break!

One more thing. I worked this summer at Jelleff's in Crystal City, and I often thought seriously of beginning an alumni chapter for the store! Besides myself, Marla Vass ('79), Gail Ferguson ('76), and our assistant manager, Pat Ballentine ('73), worked at that one store. — Margaret.

Have it matched

Would you like to double the value of your gift to MWC? You can if you work for one of the firms listed here. Here's how it works: first plan to make a gift to MWC; then, tell the appropriate person at your firm that you would like to have your gift matched. Arrangements will then be made to send your gift to MWC along with, or followed by, a second gift, courtesy of your firm's matching gift program.

Here's a key to the listing: 1) four year colleges and universities eligible; 2) graduate and professional schools eligible; 3) junior colleges eligible; 4) community colleges eligible; 5) seminaries and theological schools eligible; ALL: all five of the above eligible; PR: program restricted to private institutions; LIM: limited to specified institutions or employees; SP: companies will match your spouse's gift also; A: alumni status or attendance is required.

The list was copyrighted in 1977 by CASE Clearinghouse for Information on Matching Gift Programs. Reprinted with permission of the Council for Advancement and Support of Education.

Fund Appeal Mailed

"I wish I could talk to you personally" are the words of President Prince B. Woodard as he officially kicked off the 1978-79 MWC Annual Fund Campaign. The first appeal was mailed early this month to all alumni.

Woodard emphasized in the appeal the need to increase the alumni participation to achieve the $135,000 needed. Funds are to be used for such activities as the Regional Scholarship Program, honoraria for visiting scholars and assistance for faculty projects.

The President states: "This need is so critical that I wish I could talk to you personally about it because I hope that you will make a contribution to the 1978-79 MWC Annual Fund Campaign."

The Alumni Association is asking alumni to consider raising their gifts or making a gift if they have never done so.

Special fund appeals will be made to the reunioning classes of 1914, 1919, 1924, 1929, 1934, 1939, 1944, 1949, 1954, 1959, 1964, 1969, and 1974. Telefunds are scheduled for February of 1979.
